Paragraph II - Modes of Cooperation

Modes of cooperation may include - but are not limited to:

- I. The collection, evaluation and exchange of results and feedback related to the S.T.A.R.T. training course. The Parties will expand information-sharing and exchanges among the project partner organizations and between those and the tourism operators: final beneficiaries of the project outputs. The exchanges will be fostered through the use of existing communication channels developed under the S.T.A.R.T. project and will explore the possible use of further bilateral and multilateral on-line or offline communication and dissemination means and channels.
- II. The Parties will support the further development and exploitation of the project proposed approach and final outputs: promoting the awareness of stakeholders active in different economic areas, about the project objectives and activities and fostering the usability and outreach of the project outputs.
